Dear Kasena Vyshnavi,

I am writing to provide an update on our group project. So far, we have completed the initial research and drafted the outline for our report. The team has also started working on the first two sections, and progress is steady.

We did face some challenges with gathering data from one of the sources, but we are working on alternatives to resolve this issue. Additionally, coordinating schedules among team members has been a bit difficult, but we are managing with regular check-ins.

Based on our current pace, we expect to complete the project by [expected completion date]. We are confident that with continued effort, we will meet this deadline.

Thank you for your guidance and support.

Best regards,

Sneha
